

AUBERGE DU SOLEIL'S I. WOLK GALLERY
MERGES WITH MA(i)SONRY

RUTHERFORD, CALIF. (February 10, 2010) — Auberge du Soleil, Napa Valley's premier luxury resort, is pleased to announce that its signature sculpture gardens will merge with Ma(i)sonry, the highly acclaimed art, design and wine gallery in Yountville. Previously part of the I. Wolk Gallery, the sculpture gardens will continue to operate under the I. Wolk name and with the same level of professionalism that I. Wolk collectors and artists have become accustomed.

“The I. Wolk Gallery sculpture gardens have been an important and unique aspect of our property since 1998,” said Mark Harmon, CEO Auberge Resorts. “While we are of course saddened by the passing of Ira Wolk, we look forward to the new partnership with Ma(i)sonry and to continuing our commitment to offering our guests fine art.”

Auberge du Soleil's sculpture garden currently displays 110 works by 65 California sculptors. The pieces feature a variety of media, including bronze, steel, ceramic, stone and wood, and are located throughout the resort's 33 acres. The change in gallery ownership will allow Ma(i)sonry to offer Auberge du Soleil's guests an even greater range of art and design selections, as well as premium communications and services, including access to the gallery's monthly “Gallery Guide” curriculum of events.

A marvel of landscaping and stone masonry, the resort's sculpture garden features pieces that have been thoughtfully situated so they harmoniously coexist with the olive trees. More than 500 tons of fieldstone were fashioned into mortar-less stone walls extending more than 7,000 feet. A stream flows through the center of the grove, creating a pleasant, audible trickle and provides a lush backdrop for the art even during the long, dry Napa summer. An arched redwood bridge enables grove wanderers to cross from one side to the other, making the space ideal for quietly gazing at the artwork, having a picnic or a relaxing walk in the shade.

Ma(i)sonry's proprietor, Michael Polenske, intends to make as few changes as possible to the I. Wolk Galleries, which also have locations in Sonoma and St. Helena, and currently plans to retain the gallery's name, daily operations, and physical spaces. “We are pleased to continue to offer our guests this unique aspect of our property,” says Harmon. “And, with Ma(i)sonry's help, we look forward to finding new ways to offer our guests a one-of-a-kind experience.”
